FOB China HRC

The index rose by $16/t yesterday (8.2.22) to US$795/t, MTD US$773/t.

Some steel mills in Henan, Shandong and Hebei provinces were asked to intensify production restrictions from 6pm yesterday to reduce pollutions, with heavy diesel trucks not allowed in Tangshan. The restriction would last till 11-12 February. China's central economic planning agencies MIIT and NDRC published guidance for steel and industrial high-quality development on 7 February that requests that the steel industry achieve peak carbon before 2030 and more than 80pc steel capacity rated for ultra-low emissions.

An east China mill pushed up its workable level to $800/t fob after it sold around 40,000t SS400 HRC at $790/t fob to the Middle East. A large northeast China mill returned to export markets after months of absence with a weekly offer at $810/t fob for SS400 HRC. Four other major Chinese mills offered at the same level, while other mills offered at $820-825/t fob.

Mills and traders increased offers to $850-860/t cfr Vietnam for SAE1006 grade coils from China and India. An Indonesia-based mill also pushed up offer to $860/t cfr Vietnam. A Japanese mill was mulling to hike offers to $900-950/t cfr southeast Asia. (Argus)

EU HRC

European hot-rolled coil (HRC) prices diverged significantly today as prices in Germany and the Benelux fell, while Italy reacted more quickly to the tightening global dynamic.

Argus' daily Italian HRC index increased by $\leq 14/t$ to $\leq 865.25/t$ ex-works, while the northwest EU HRC index dropped by $\leq 7.25/t$ to $\leq 925/t$. Sales have been concluded in Italy at the equivalent of $\leq 880/t$ delivered, with mills now pushing even higher towards $\leq 900/t$ delivered. Ex-works offers were heard at $\leq 880/t$ from at least two producers, and a third is offering limited amounts at the same price, but on delivered basis. Most offers are for April deliveries, although some tonnages may still be available for March.

Pickled and oiled material was heard offered at €920-930/t ex-works. Cold-rolled coils (CRCs) were offered at €1,100-1,120/t ex -works from a reroller, and €20-30/t lower from integrated producers. A north EU offer was heard at €1,170/t delivered.

Producers are preferring to steadily increase prices, testing the market with each round of rises, mostly incentivised by the lack of lower-priced import offers and higher production costs. But they are still open to negotiate, unlike last year, when prices were soaring and their selling strategy was "take it or leave it".

An Indian mill was heard to consider offering to Italy today at $960-980/t cfr, while South Korea is targeting €900/t cfr. Turkish HRC was offered this week at €880-900/t cfr inclusive of duties and heard offered on fob basis at $920-930/t fob. Japan is understood to have filled a vessel for Europe, with some sales done at $960-970/t cfr Italy, but is now seeking prices closer to $1,000/t cfr. Indonesia was last week offering at €860/t cfr for end of March shipment. (Argus)

US HRC

The S&P Global Platts TSI US hot-rolled coil index was assessed at $1,140/st ex-works Indiana Feb. 8, unchanged from Feb. 7.

The assessment remained at the latest repeatable tradable value based on one service center sources' reported tradable value at $1,140/st for orders exceeding 200 st. A Midwest service center indicated offers were coming in below $1,100/st for largerton orders, while another service center in the same region indicated tradeable value was at $1,100/st for orders of 1,000 st. A different Midwest service center reported his recent transactions were between $1,180-$1,200/st. (Platts)
