Evening Commentary

Comparitively calm throughout Monday, with only one more on-exchange spot, FBX02 USWC-Asia adding more value, up +$23 on the day. Meanwhile warnings that contract defaults may rocket following rapid drops in spot prices have been tempered by caution over the uncertainty for a seasonal late Q3 demand peak. Meanwhile investment shifts further towards more expensive green fuels, supporting a bull case for longer-dated contracts.

- MPCC eyes more methanol projects after landmark newbuild order (Tradewinds)
- Warning to shippers: don't tear up contracts to rush into a tempting spot market (The Loadstar)
- Port of Long Beach to receive state investment for port and supply chain projects (Container News)
- Boxport congestion spreads across the globe again (Splash247)
- The container market has taken a turn in recent months, but high rates and carriers' profits will not curb overnight as congestion still lingers at ports. (Port Technology)
