Fertilizer Derivatives End of Day Report

FUTURES MARKET COMMENTARY

NOLA UREA: NOLA UREA in both the phys and futures markets were firmer today on the backs of the Dutch TTF price firming today, but then eventually coming back off settling near 230/mw for Q4. The futures market across Q4-Q1 is now above $600. Earlier in the morning we saw most of the trading on futures with $600 trading first on Q4 then $610 eventually trading on Q4 NOLA UREA futures in 1ktpm. The Q1 market was also firmer today trading $620 for futures up $5 from last done. In the phys market values were higher too, you saw phys for AUG trade late yesterday at $560 and now SEPT barges traded last in the high $570s. Going out further along the curve OCT phys traded $585.

INTL: In INTL we saw lots of interest, but nothing firmed up trading as there was uncertainty in the market. Specifically interest on AG and Egypt but there was wide spreads which couldn't be closed. With Dutch TTF Gas Futures has climbing throughout the day and it broke the 250 barrier. It seems like the INTL Urea market has climbed already.
