Turkish Scrap

Turkish deepsea import scrap prices climb further on fresh US, Baltic sales.

US, Baltic deals heard at $390-$394/mt CFR on Aug 8.

Suppliers target above $400/mt CFR, few offers heard.

Turkish deepsea import ferrous scrap prices rose further Aug. 9, as more deepsea bookings were heard with mills continuing to restock, sources said.

Platts assessed Turkish imports of premium heavy melting scrap 1/2 (80:20) Aug. 9 at $392/mt CFR, up $7/mt from Aug. 8.

A Baltic-origin deal totaling 28,000 mt was booked Aug. 8 by a Marmara mill, with 17,500 mt HMS 1/2 (80:20) at $390/mt CFR, 7,500 mt shredded scrap at $405/mt CFR, and 3,000 mt bonus scrap at $405/mt CFR. The deal was confirmed by the sellside for early September shipment.

A reported US-origin deal was also heard to have been booked Aug. 8 by an Izmir mill, with HMS 1/2 (80:20) at $394/mt CFR, and shredded scrap at $409/mt CFR. An earlier US-origin deal booked Aug. 4 was also heard, with shredded scrap and bonus scrap at $400/mt CFR cargo average.

FOB China HRC

There was no index yesterday (9.8.22) given Singapore public holiday.

Hebei provincial government said that it will eliminate all blast furnaces below 1,000m³ and convertors below 100t by end of 2022. But this had limited market impact as the province has already removed most of these capacities last year or put them under capacity swap plans.

Several Chinese mills offered at $610-650/t fob China for SS400 HRC, far above trading firms' offers at $630/t cfr Vietnam and attracted no buying interest. A vessel of Indian HRC possibly sold at $610/t cfr Vietnam this week, but could not be confirmed with details. Taiwanese HRC was workable at the same level of $610/t cfr Vietnam, participants said. Steel mills from South Korea and Japan were willing to receive orders at below $600/t fob on sluggish buying.

Demand for SAE-grade coil was even worse compared with that for SS400-grade coil in Vietnam after the latter's deals done in previous weeks, Vietnamese participants said. SAE-grade coils with open origin offers at $630/t cfr Vietnam attracted bids at below $600/t cfr Vietnam.
