Market Commentary / Recent Trades

Iron ore continued to rise on Thursday, followed by the news that more financial support would be provided to property developers. According to a market source, the Industrial and Commercial Bank of China (ICBC), with other big banks in China, would offer $129 billion to 12 Chinese property developers, triggering rallies in property shares and iron ore prices. Iron ore went through familiar motions in the Singapore morning, edging up to $96.70 before coming off to just under $95.50, where we closed out yesterday.
