Market Commentary / Recent Trades

Iron ore extended its gains on Thursday as market sentiment remained optimistic with China's stimulus policy to boost the economy. China's biggest banks cut rates by 5 basis points for demand deposits and 15 basis points for the three-to-five-year deposits, while investors expect further cuts in reserve requirement ration, which will be the next measure to boost growth. Most interest was focused on the front month spreads. Jun/Aug saw most of the volume traded at $4, Jul/Aug saw action at $2.30 and July/Sept at $4.5 in the London morning session.
