Market News

China

Sliding resale pulp and futures prices kept Chinese buyers inactive last week, halting the market. Suppliers quietly retracted proposed price increases of $20 per tonne for radiata pine and $30 per tonne for South American BHK due to the market's stagnation.

Prices for Canadian and Nordic NBSK remained steady at $810-840 per tonne, averaging $825 per tonne. Fastmarkets reported the resale NBSK price at RMB 6,367 per tonne this week, down RMB 116 per tonne from two weeks ago, equivalent to $758 per tonne excluding VAT and logistics.

Resale South American BHK dropped by RMB 140 per tonne to RMB 5,630 per tonne, or $668 per tonne excluding VAT and logistics. The most-traded September BSK contract settled at RMB 5,906 per tonne on June 21 on the Shanghai Futures Exchange, equivalent to $705 per tonne excluding VAT and logistics.

With no further price hikes from producers, South American BHK prices remained at $740-750 per tonne. The PIX BHKP China index settled at $741.16 per tonne on Friday, unchanged from the previous week.
