Verdict-Neutral.

The active DCE contract Sep25 has bottomed out and rebounded again, failing to break below the first support level set in early June, which shows that the support level is relatively effective. The trading area has declined slightly in the past two months, with the lower highs compared with the beginning of the week. The hourly MACD has formed a golden cross. The hourly CCI is approaching the bullish area from the neutral area. The short-term outlook remains neutral.

First support 691.0, First resistance 712.5.
