Market Commentary / Recent Trades

The Singapore morning session opened at $101.60, with flat price falling to a low of $101.35 before rising to a high of $102.25 and closing at $102.15. Little activity was seen in the session, with prompt month outright trading in smalls. The most notable trade was a 65% Oct/Nov spread trading at $0.75 in 50kt.

Moving into the afternoon session, prompt months continued to trade in smalls. In spreads, liquidity was seen as expected: Sep/Oct traded at par in clips of 200+100+30+40kt, Sep/Dec traded at $0.35 in 100kt, Nov/Dec traded at -$0.20 in 25kt, and Oct/Jan traded at $0.70 in 25+25kt. Further down the curve, Q4/Q1 continued to see activity, widening from the previous day to $1.20 from $1.05, trading in two clips of 25kt and 15kt.

The DCE Iron Ore Jan26 contract continues to fluctuate within a narrow range as expected. Iron ore prices rose, ending six consecutive daily losses, supported by demand prospects in China and improved steel mill margins. Analysts noted that demand for iron ore by steel mills remains resilient, providing short-term price support.
